ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Loren Schneider; Mr. John Newhart; Dr. Thompson Potter, president; Mr. T. V. Teare, vice-president; Mr. William Enright; Mr. Robert Douglas.

Board Of Trustees

There is within the college a group of administrative people who compose the Board of Trustees and Board of Regents, who function as a policy-making body of the college. They are a vital part of the atmosphere and individuality of Missouri Western Junior College.

Without these people, the college could not function effectively as a working family body. As new and advantageous avenues keep opening up, these men will continue their work towards the establishment of a four-year college.

Board Of Regents

Mr. Loren Schneider; Mayor Douglas Merrifield; Mr. William Enright, president; Dr. Thompson Potter, vice-president; Mr. T. V. Teare, Secretary-Treasurer.

President Milburn W. Blanton

Success lies in aiming towards a goal and pressing continually forward to achieve that goal. These words effectively describe the untiring efforts and devoted service of a man of many talents and attributes, President Milburn Blanton.

Director Of Field And Special Services

WINFORD HOOVER

Mr. Winford Hoover, Director of Field and Special Services, is responsible for the public relations of the college. As a liason official of Missouri Western, he formulates and distributes all college publications of a promotional nature, and assists in administering the production of student publications. In addition, he coordinates and supervises the release of information to the news service, and interprets the college and its programs and services to prospective students, schools, and other organizations.

Coordinator Of Student Activities

ELIZABETH PHELAN

A vital individual whose face is familiar to every student is Miss Elizabeth Phelan. In addition to her role as a social science professor, Miss Phelan is also Coordinator of Student Activities. The Student Senate, which plans most of the student body activities, is under her sponsorship and tutelage. In an effort to promote maximum harmony and efficiency, all college organizations must schedule their activities and plans for use of college building facilities with the coordinator.

Science . . .

Progress in every area of man's environment has its roots in the basic and fundamental sciences. In meeting the demands of a science oriented world of the present, and more importantly for tomorrow, Missouri Western offers a comprehensive science program. Included in the field of biological sciences are courses in biology, botany, zoology, anatomy and physiology, and hygiene. Chemistry and physics are also offered.

Throughout history, mathematics has played a primary part in man's progress. Without Mathematics, our present knowledge would be considerably lessened. It has been the key to the sciences in the past and will open the doors of tomorrow. The mathematics format provides an extensive coverage of all mathematical theories. Nine courses are made available to meet the needs of every student in their field of academic concentration. The curriculum encompasses modern elementary mathematics to differential equations.

Business And Economics . . . Foundations For Success

JOHN DUERST
B. S. , Oklahoma State University
M. S. , Oklahoma State University

One of the two leading institutions in our society today is the economic institution. The wealth and worth of a country are frequently measured by its economic stability. The division of business and economics offers a firm foundation for those who plan to form the backbone of their society. Courses include general economics, principles of economics, mathematics of finance, elementary accounting, business statistics, business law, typing, shorthand, secretarial dictation and transcription, and business communications.

Social Science . . .

The Individual In Society

The social sciences comprise those disciplines which systematically treat the activities of the individual as a member of the group. Thus, history investigates the past; political science studies the nature and form of government; geography defines the structure of the surface of the earth, and sociology endeavors to explain how people live together. The department offers six history courses in addition to American government and political institutions, international politics, sociology, social and economic institutions, and geography.

Education And Psychology . . .

Learning Through Understanding

Through knowledge and learning, the tools for understanding are developed. In understanding, the individual is able to evaluate himself and his behavior. Thus, in knowing himself, man is able to appreciate his fellow man. In fulfilling the criteria for learning through understanding, Missouri Western offers seven courses in the field of education and psychology. These include general, educational, applied, and abnormal psychology, two physical education activities courses for men, and the history and principles of physical education.

Poor indeed is the man whose mind is not enriched by some phase of the beauty of art and music . And certainly the beauty of fine arts is found not only in the product, but the mind of the creator as well . Through appreciation of art and music , we are able to evaluate this quality in the Masters of the past and present . Guidance for tomorrow's artists may be found in seven select art courses and ten music courses .

ROBERT PAWLING

In technical and vocational education, emphasis is placed on training the individual for occupations in commerce, business, industry, and the industrial arts. Time is devoted to advanced instruction in the various branches of engineering and applied science in both the classroom and field work. Theory plays the predominate part in such courses as engineering and architectural drawing, surveying, statics, dynamics and circuit theory. Numerous courses are offered in electronic technology including fundamentals and advanced programs.

Administrative Secretaries

Mrs. Lorraine Curtis, secretary to President Blanton.

Mrs. Lou Humbar, secretary to Dean Chance.

Mrs. Goldie Black, secretary to the Business Manager, Mr. Hawk.

Mrs. Charlene Hamilton, financial secretary.

Mrs. Caroline Kennedy, secretary to the Director of Field and Special Services, Mr. Hoover.
Linda Blank and Mary Coffey assist Mrs. Graham and Mr. Dallam as receptionists.

Mrs. Arline Fruin and Mrs. Kerry Clampitt, secretaries in the Main Office, seen with their assistants, Jean Riddle, Karen Stuber, Carrol Day.

Mrs. Wigersma is a welcomed addition to the new library this year.

In her office, the librarian prepares recent shipments of books for use in the library.

Once the books are ready, they are shelved.

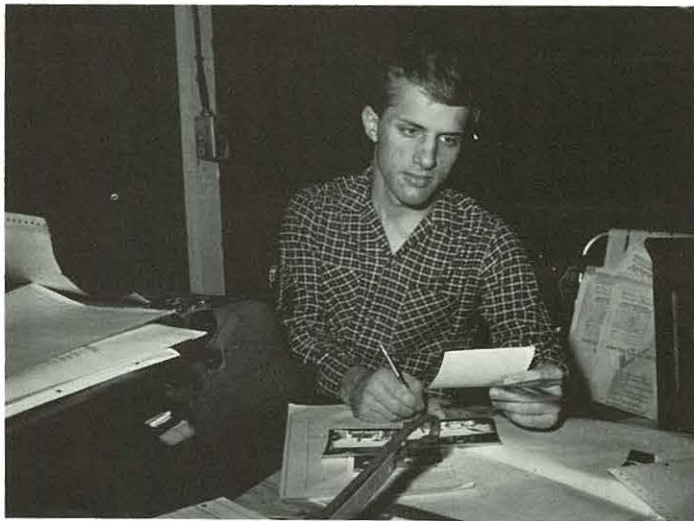

The Library

Two new faces have made themselves known to Missouri Western students. The first is Mrs. Helen Wigersma, and, the second, that of the library itself. Facilities have been extended yielding improved service to and for students. Degrees held by the librarian:

B. A., University of Missouri
M. S. L. S. , University of Illinois

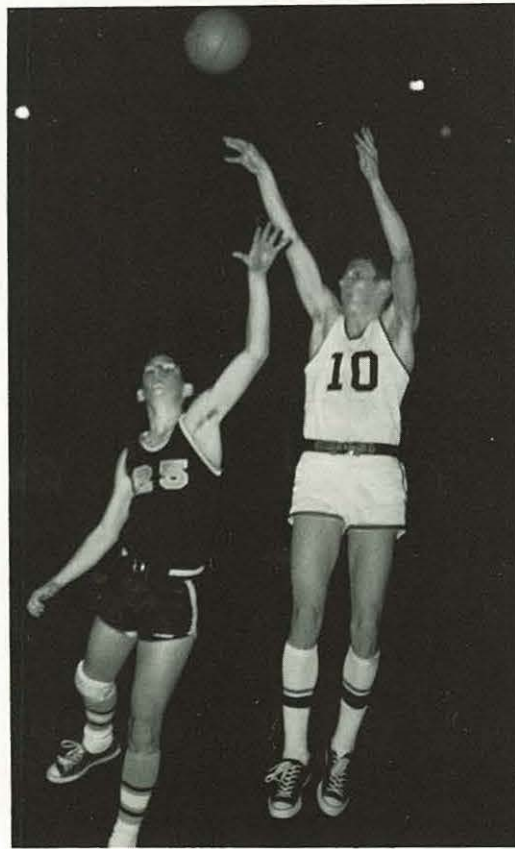

Sue Mead, Pat Borchers, Linda Felt, and Gayle Walker, are some of the library assistants at school.

ORGANIZATIONS

Student Body Officers And Cabinet

Student body officers are elected each spring following a diligent and active campaign period. Together with the cabinet members, who are selected by the newly elected president, they form the nucleus of the student government. In addition to devoting unlimited time and service to the college, they must be in and maintain good scholastic standing.

In conjunction with the senate, they plan the major activities of the school which include the dances and homecoming events. Lesser functions include maintenance and operation of the "Book Rack" and annually decorating the Christmas tree in the front hall of the Main Building. The officers and cabinet are the representatives of the students to the college and form an integral link between them and the administration. Through the student body officers and cabinet, the students maintain a voice in their government.

First Semester THE SENATE

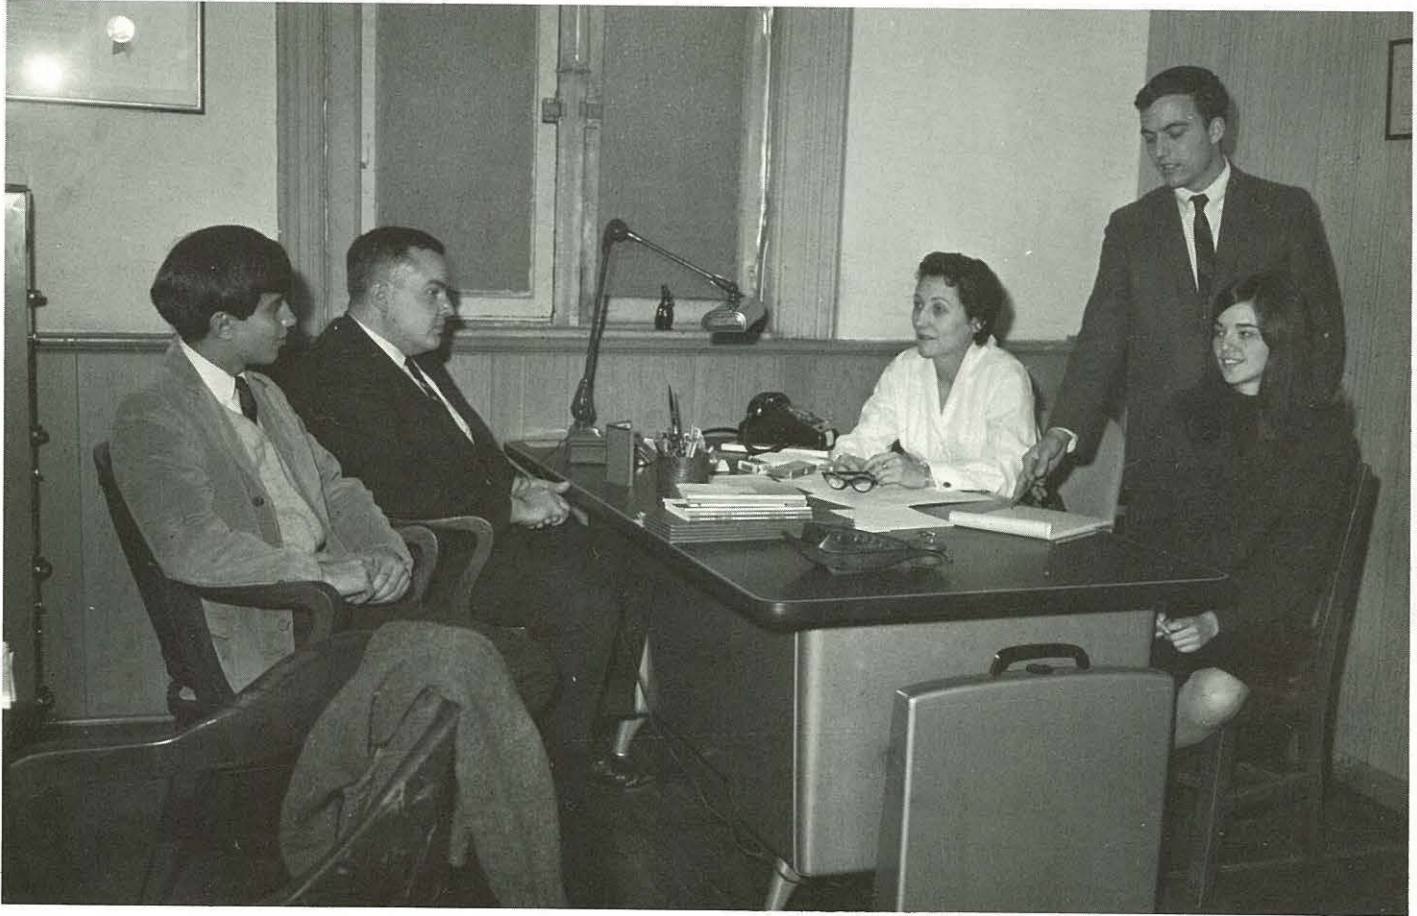

The Senate is composed of elected representatives from both freshman and sophomore classes. Eligibility requirements must be met before a student can be elected to the Senate. The organization itself endeavors to secure co-operation between the administration and the student body, to make laws for the Missouri Western which shall be approved by the administration, and to further interest and enthusiasm in all M. W. J. C. traditions.

Second Semester

The Student Union Board Of Control

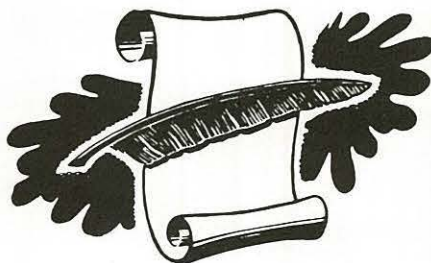

The maintenance of the Student Union Building is under the direction of the Student Union Board of Control. The board is composed of a faculty advisor and five elected students. Board membership is both an honor and considerable responsibility.

The Mace is an honorary organization whose membership is based upon activities and services rendered to the school. Membership is selective and is one of the honors bestowed by the members on the students.

During the fifteenth week of the first semester, the sophomore members select three sophomores for membership. In the fifteenth week of the second semester, the present six Mace members will select three outstanding freshmen for membership.

The Griffon Yearbook

GREG ORTMAN
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

I would like to acknowledge various individuals who have aided in the successful completion of this book.

My thanks go to Dean Chance for his cooperation and inspiration, to Mr. Hoover for his advice, to Mr. Hawk for his valuable aid in approving the yearbook expenditures, to Bray's Studio for its fine quality photography work, to Mrs. Fruin for her assistance in compiling endless lists of names, to Bill Matthews, the yearbook representative, whose ideas proved to be invaluable, and finally to the other administrative officials, faculty, and students for their fine spirit of cooperation.

Sincerely,
Greg Ortman

Betty Muench
Assistant to the Editor-in-Chief, Social Editor, and photographer

The busiest member of my staff and my severest critic is Betty Muench, my assistant. Starting as social editor, she quickly proved to be my most valuable staff member as she continually kept the copy editor and myself up to date. In addition, she worked on layouts, took pictures, and reminded me of deadlines.

Proof reading is important in yearbook work.

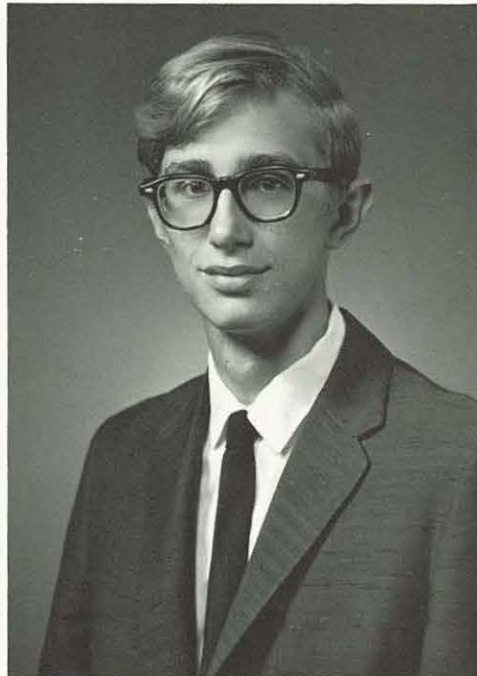

Andie Walton
Copy Editor

Quiet, hard working, and enthusiastic describes Greg Nichols, one of my layout designers. Greg's attendance at meetings and deadline rush sessions has merited him distinctive recognition.

One of the toughest problems of yearbook production is the writing of good copy. Every yearbook must tell "what", "how", and "when" in an appealing manner. Andie Walton has found that solution. She is one of the few students that can easily and appropriately phrase the "what", "how", and "when" of a yearbook.

Greg Nichols
Layout Designer

Reed Klein
Layout Designer

Where Greg was quiet and enthusiastic, Reed Klein was loud, critical, flexible, industrious, and, in general, a good staff member. Reed worked as a layout designer.

Andie hard at work preparing copy for the deadline rush session.

Grant worked as a photographer for a time. Gayle assisted earlier in the year for ideas in the book.

Griffon News

The college newspaper serves as an informative publication on school activities. Every month, the Griffon News highlights various professors and organizations as well as news of interest to the students. Besides the activities of students and organizations, the Griffon

News features a column by our student body president, Greg Martin. One important function of a newspaper is to present the facts for the readers to judge. This can be said to symbolize the Griffon News.

Wayne Rucker and Don Gilmore alternate at playing center and forward. Wayne is a strong scorer for the Griffons. Both will return next year.

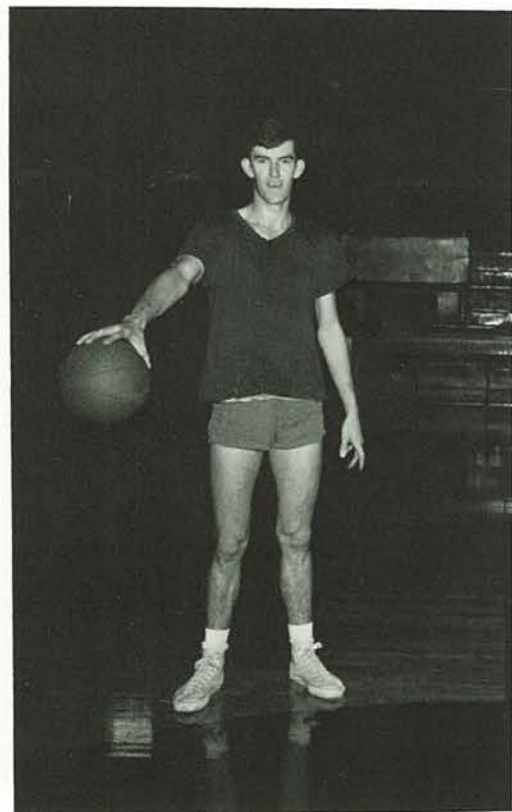

Bill McDougal plays forward for the Griffons and will return next year.

Mike Lafave is another freshman forward and high scorer.

The Starting Five

Bill Price is the only sophomore on the first five and plays guard.

The Spirited Ones

The cheering squad made an improvement this year with the addition of the boy cheerleaders. Working together, the squad developed new routines to earn their name "The Spirited Ones."

A new addition to the cheering squad are the boy cheerleaders: Dave Nash, Greg Martin, Ron Miller.

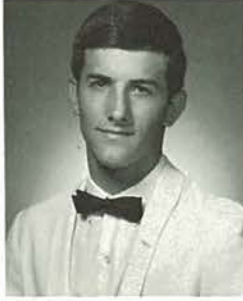

The boys and girls team up to build a pyramid "Western style."

Registration

Twice a year Missouri Westerners go through a processing called Registration. To the sophomores, it is an endless adjustment of courses and a time for new decisions. To the freshmen, it is a whirlwind of forms, questions, and chaos. At the same time, student organizations provide an Activities Fair to offer membership to freshmen.

Registration and its varied forms to fill out.

Ice Breaker

The first social activity of the school year is the Ice Breaker. This dance affords the opportunity for incoming freshmen to become acquainted with some of the more experienced scholars in the sophomore class. Faculty and administrative officials are not uncommon at this first affair.

Homecoming Festivities

The Parade

This anterior view of the winning float showing another extra-curricular activity of students in the twenties.

The Business Club constructed this trophy-winning float depicting student life in the twenties.

Honorable mention was awarded to the Engineer's Club for their "spirit" of the Roaring Twenties.

The Roaring Twenties

Always in the spirit of things, the Griffon cheerleaders are caught candidly during the Homecoming Parade.

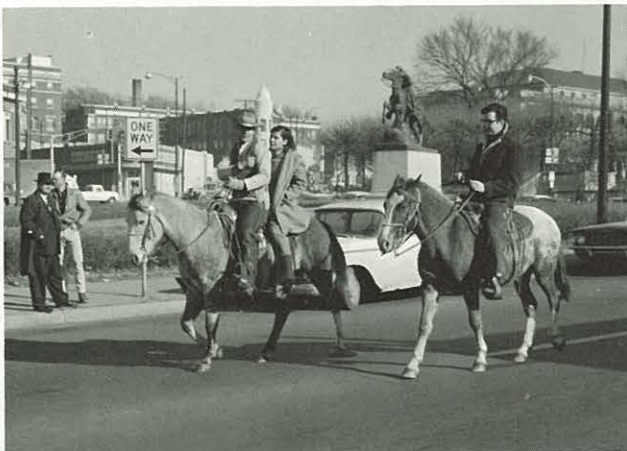

The Homecoming Royalty rode in the parade, with neither the Queen nor the Maid of Honor yet announced.

Miss Santa Cruz is at the wheel of the French Club.

A little bit of the "west" in Missouri Western manifested itself in these two representatives of the 1820's.

Despite the cold temperature, some students had enough spirit to remove their coats, showing their costumes.

The Coronation

Queen Cheryl escorted by Jim Beever amid the applause of the spectators and the team.

"I crown thee queen of the 1966 Homecoming," proclaims Greg Martin.

A very happy young lady.

Maid of Honor, Mary Beth Norton, escorted by Pat Conway.

Entering First Attendant, Lynette Bauer, escorted by senate member.

Second Attendant, Perilla Schneider, escorted by Ronnie Miller.

The queen reigns from her throne during the game.

The queen surrounded by her court and escorts.

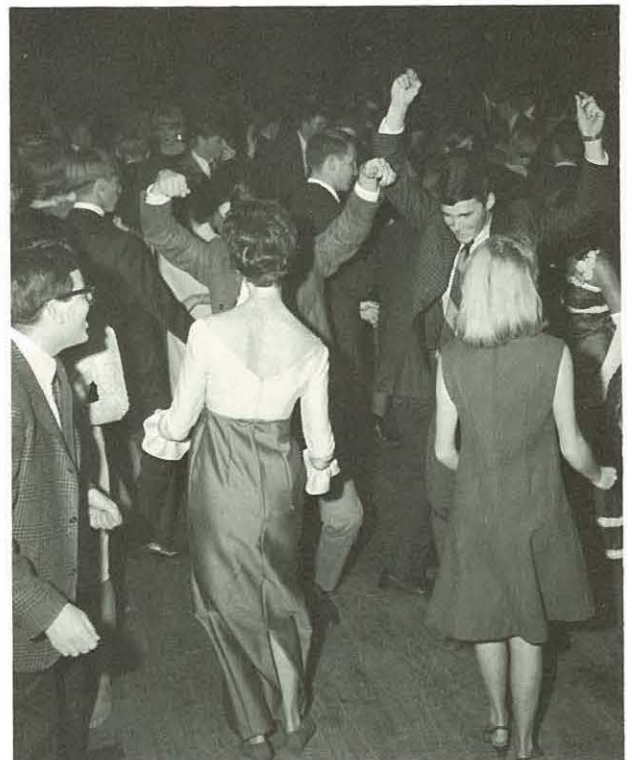

Cheek-to-cheek is still the favorite of even the GO-GO generation.

Ronnie Eggleston and his friend are not really being held-up. It's only a new dance--THE (leap) FROG.

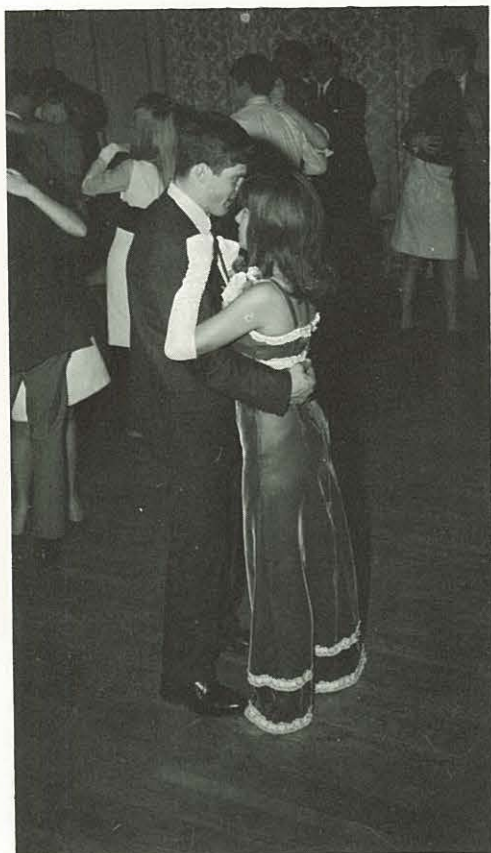

Students and faculty mingle during one of the band's breaks.

The Dance

One dance for the queen and attendants.

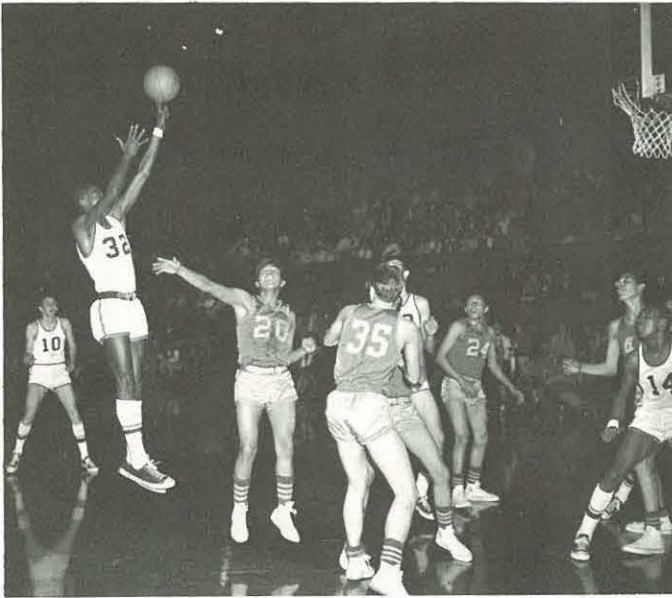

Cheek-to-cheek is fine, but the fast ones are good all of the time.

Attendant, Lynette Bauer in one of the more active dances.

The Game

Ronnie Dean, in a balancing act, surprises his opponent to merit a goal.

What some people won't do to attract attention. These Missouri Westerners received a special award for their costumes.

The cheerleaders spark the spectators enthusiasm with some spirited cheers.

The Pep Band provides light musical interludes during tense moments.

After gaining the rebound, Wayne Rucker moved quickly to score two more for Missouri Western.

Candid Cage Activities

Here are some candid moments of the team in action in several of their games.

Mike Lafave looks quite relaxed shooting from his cushion of air.

Bill McDougal adds his contribution.

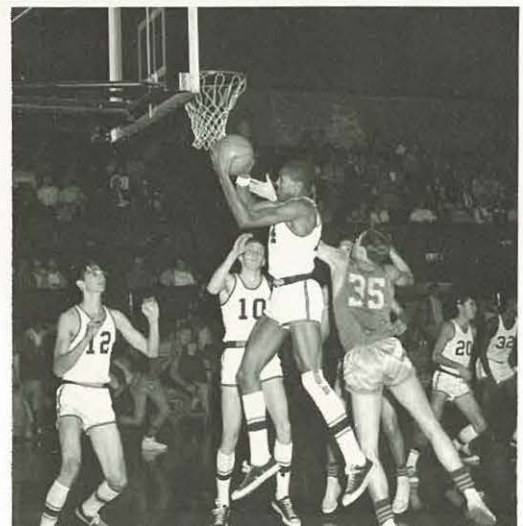

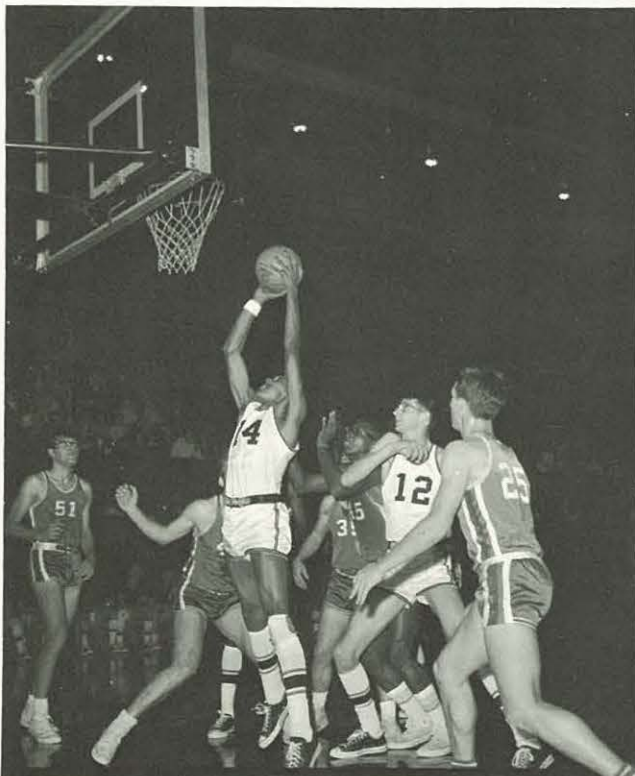

Wayne Rucker jumps center for the Griffs and manages to get the jump on his opponent.

With Don Gilmore providing interference, the undaunted Rucker puts the Griffs on the scoreboard.

Rucker again.

Jim Cook works diligently while Susan Zebelean wipes the perspiration from her forehead. Elizabeth Woody's stark white face is her response to a physics exam.

Students In Their Sombre Moments

This tutti-frutti flavor certainly makes speech more enjoyable.

"I'm here! Let's get started on the LITTLE PRINCE!" demands an eager French student.

A long time ago, I posed for Rodin.

I don't know that I believe Newton's laws of motion.

I have the worst hang-nail!

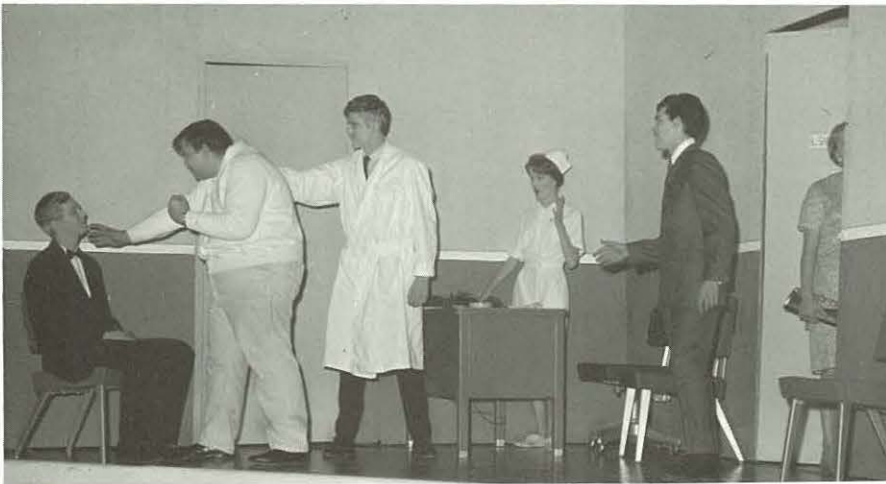

Believe me, I've used Ban for years.

Mrs. Margaret Davis Kew, Mr. Louis Riemer, Dr. Donald Sandford, Mr. Louis Lynch, and Mrs. MaryJane Sandford were the visiting musicians. The student body was introduced to chamber music by a quintet composed of fine musicians from the northwest Missouri area. Two selections: "Opus 5" by Franz Berwals and "Quintet Opus 84" by Edgar Elgar were played.

Accompanied by a string ensemble, the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Riemer, performs "Christmas Oratorio" by Saint-Saens.

FREEDOM'S LIGHT

The night of tyranny is slight,
Amid the tide of freedom's light.
As long as there'll be men of right,
Who'll be the strength of freedom's light,
The night of tyranny will ne'er come,
As long as free men stand as one.

Convocations

Dr. Myron Meyer spoke concerning the cultures of the Middle East.

Edgar C. Little, Acting Administrative Officer, answered questions posed by the students.

The Iberian Dance Theatre performed a program of traditional and interpretative dances, music, and poetry.

As a Danforth Visiting Lecturer, Dr. Jose Chaves discussed Latin American culture.

Speaking on opportunities in St. Joseph were Dr. Thompson Potter, Richard Snooks, Duane Landon, and Mayor Douglas Merrifield.

Awards Day

Janice Porter received the Chemical Rubber Company Science Achievement Award for chemistry from Professor John Redmond.

On behalf of the cheerleaders, Melanie Lott gave Ginger Vetter an award for her devotion and cooperation.

Richard Frank was awarded the Social Science Award from Professor Frank Popplewell.

One of the most exciting events in the life of the student is Awards Day. During the convocation, those students who have demonstrated outstanding academic work are recognized through scholarships and awards.

Betty Ann Muench, yearbook supplement editor, was awarded the C. R. Bray Annual Arts Award for displaying outstanding assistance in the production of the yearbook.

A basketball trophy was presented by the Downtown Association to the 1966-67 team, and was accepted by Coach Burri and Bill Price on behalf of the players.

The MWJC Award, to the incoming student body president, went to David Fry.

John Sunde gave the Phi Theta Kappa Award to the freshman with the highest GPA, Linda Felt.

Baccalaureate &

Conducting the Baccalaureate services at the First Presbyterian Church was the Rev. John W. Cowan. The services were held on May 28, with 130 graduates attending.

On June 2, the Missouri Western Junior College graduates received their diplomas from Dr. Clayton Chance, Dean of M. W. J. C. The students were privileged in hearing Dr. Dwayne Meyer speak on the "The Wonderful World of Wisdom". To the students delightful surprise, his speech broke away from the usual humdrum of most commencement speakers.

A reception honoring the graduates was held following Baccalaureate.

For the students, the highlight of the graduation exercise was the receiving of their diplomas, which were awarded by Dr. Chance.

Commencement

In his address, Dr. Dwayne Meyer explained "success," "failure," and "action."

The stately Gothic columns added to the solemnity of Baccalaureate services.
