THE GRIFFON

M.G.M.

This yearbook may contain images, language, or other content that could be offensive to modern users. The content may be disturbing and offensive, but should be viewed within the context of that period. The material is being presented as part of a historical record and in no way reflects the values of Missouri Western State University.

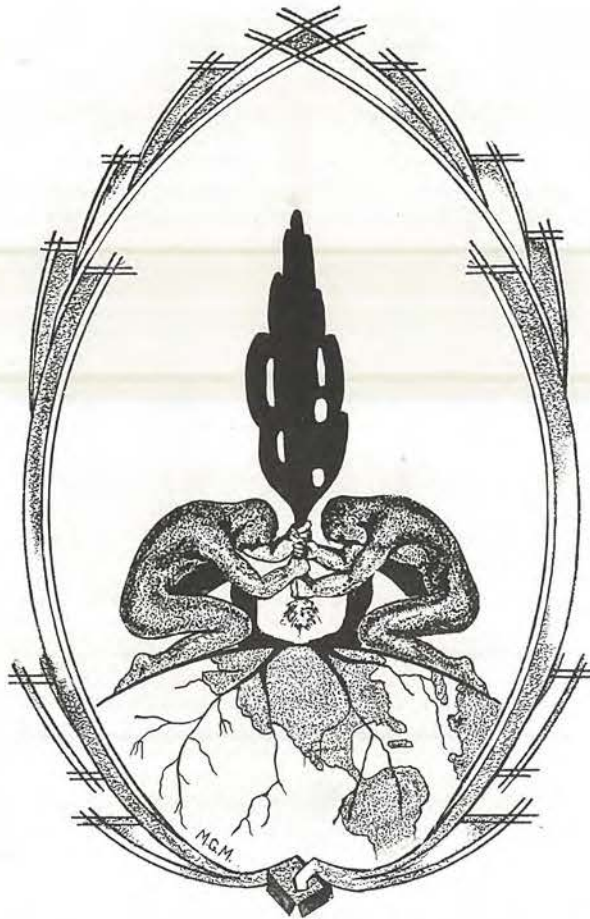

THE THEME

Herein lie achievements, joys, rewards, and ambitions of the students who took part in the activities and school life of Junior College during the year 1932-33. May this Griffon become no less than another step toward the ideal domain of World Fellowship.

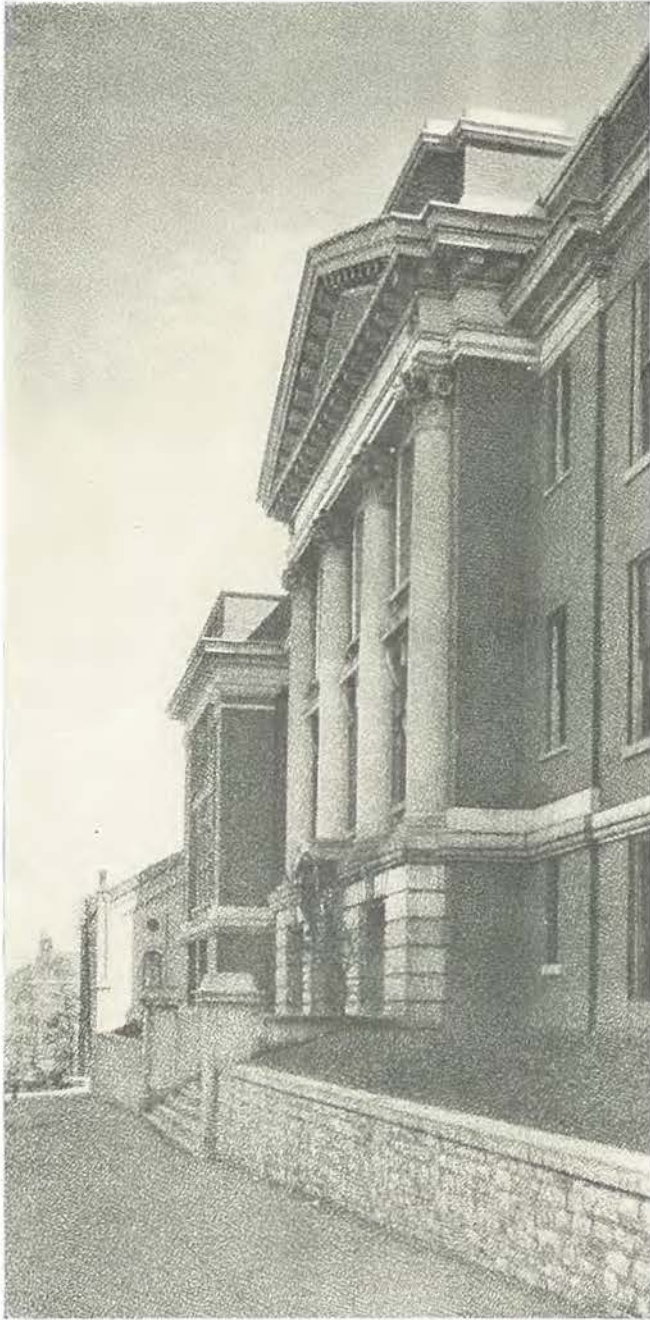

DEDICATION

To our advisor, who inspired us to greater effort, who urged us on in the face of apparently unsurmountable difficulties, who helped us in untold ways in our earnest endeavors to further World Fellowship—to Miss Nelle Blum, the Dean of St. Joseph Junior College, we gratefully dedicate this, the Griffon of 1933.

"For noble youth, there is no thing

ADMINISTRATION

In this great World Fellowship, we must have not only followers, but leaders. Words can but weakly express the deep respect and sincere gratitude we hold for our instructors, they who have, by their own thoughts, words, and actions impressed upon us, their followers, the highest standards of honor and truth.

A great honor—to be chosen a student officer. Each spring, posters and signs line the halls, cards adorn coat lapels and dress collars, campaigning fills the air. It is election time. These positions are filled by popular, college-wide vote when the student officers for the next year are elected.

The student officers are also the Senate officers. The president presides at all student meetings, at convocations, and Senate meetings. The vice-president presides in the absence of the president, supports the president, the Senate, and the student body in all their undertakings. The secretary preserves a written record of all the student activities of the entire year.

Junior College is more than proud of the all-school cooperation secured by these competent officers during the 1932-33 school year.

The Student Senate of Junior College is made up of members of the student body who are elected from both the Freshman and Sophomore classes. These members must have both a high scholastic and personal conduct record. The purpose of the Student Senate is to form a link between the administration and student body, and it is by this means that the students are given self-government and self-discipline embodied by these representatives of the classes.

Its activities consist of making laws pertaining to the students, and upholding the school ideals and traditions. All transactions concerning the student body must be approved by the Senate. In addition, this group has charge of the college activities such as the dances, "prowl day", and the various productions sponsored by the school and its organizations.

The Athletic Council is composed of representatives of the various athletic groups of the college, supplemented by a member of the Student Senate. This year the Council included: Senate, Jimmie Smith; basketball, Merle Rousey; track, Jack Fisher; intramurals, Ellwood Huff; girls' athletics, Jeanette Eaton; minor sports, Earl Williams; advisors, Miss Nelle Blum and Coach Price Hopkins.

The purpose of the Athletic Council is to act as a clearing house for all athletic problems, and to create an active interest in the athletic organizations of the college.

This year the Athletic Council initiated a new position in the school, that of Financial Manager who conducted the sale of tickets in behalf of the basketball season.

During the basketball season the Council provided for the entertainment of the visiting teams. All athletic honor activities are also under the Council's supervision.

Although no college can offer a degree with less than four years of work, the St. Joseph Junior College is authorized by the State University and the State Department of Education to give associate certificates to graduating Sophomores.

Students who have at least twenty-eight hours of college credits, or who have been officially transferred from another college in which they have acquired such a standing are recognized as Sophomore students.

The graduates of Junior College are admitted without examination to junior standing in all mid-western state universities and in many eastern colleges. The certificates presented upon graduation are associate certificates of art, science, or teaching, according to the curriculum followed.

Class officers are selected each year by popular vote of the class members. The principal annual activity is the "Icebreaker" which the class sponsors each fall for the new college students.

A group of new faces greets us at the beginning of each new semester, faces that fairly shout the message—"We want to 'do things', too." And they do. They lengthen the honor roll, they increase the Phi Theta Kappa membership, they take leading rolls in the plays, they help constitute a champion basketball team—they immediately assume in every way their important part of the college life.

And then they bring us a new vitality—new interests, new outlooks, motivated by a burning mental curiosity, a desire to succeed.

Freshmen students are those who are regularly enrolled and who have fewer than twenty-eight hours of work to their credit. Any student who has completed the standard high school course offered by the St. Joseph schools or by any other accredited high school may enter Junior College as a Freshman.

It is the primary object of this organization to further interest and appreciation of drama by studying and by acting.

The members of the dramatic club are chosen by stage tryout held at the beginning of the school year, or they are elected by the club for some outstanding dramatic participation in a production during the year. Each year the members sponsor a one-act play at a college convocation. This year, the presentation was "Good Theater" by Christopher Morley, which was a burlesque on Shakespeare's "As You Like It." The all-school play was "Outward Bound" by Sutton Vane.

At the bi-monthly meetings of the club this year many outstanding plays of the year and their authors were discussed. A few scenes were enacted by the members in order to show their interpretation.

Meetings are held monthly at which time programs of various types are presented. Often there are speakers who lecture on subjects connected with psychology. Again, the members themselves lead in discussions or make reports on phases of the subject in which they are interested.

Although a comparatively new organization, many students have directed their club activities into this association. The Psychological Association in one of the largest clubs of the college that has grown out of class work.

This year a new club of a different type was organized at Junior College the second semester. This club was called "The Press Club", and was organized to promote an interest in journalism and to work for the improvement of school publications.

The membership of the club consists of thirteen members who are chosen for their interest in journalism and their desire to participate in journalism as a vocation.

The club has two meetings a month. One is a business meeting held at the school, and the other is a social meeting held in the various homes of the members. By these meetings the members who are on the staffs of the school publications become more intimately acquainted with each other and their work, as the publications of Junior College are outside of class work, and under student control.

The purpose of the Boot and Spur Club is to create an interest in riding, to encourage friendship among its members, and to promote good sportsmanship.

This year sees the second anniversary of the Boot and Spur. Although last year the club consisted only of the riding-minded young women of the college, this year there are several young men belonging to the organization.

The club started the year with a picnic at Story's Cottage on the Savannah road, and opened the riding season with a moonlight ride. The club meets once a month, and each member must ride at least twice a month. An interesting evening was enjoyed in the winter when the members went on a night ride in large sleighs drawn by horses.

This year, the Boot and Spur members rode Sander's Horses from the Parkway Stables.

They come as gay, irresponsible students; they leave as serious-minded, competent teachers. In the two years that the members spend in Junior College they receive sufficient training to receive a state teacher's certificate. The members of the Teachers' Guild secure the best instruction from Junior College faculty members, and the best practice under qualified St. Joseph teachers in the public schools.

If you hear a college sophomore reciting the multiplication tables, or hear some students discussing "The Ugly Duckling"—don't become alarmed or fear that you are in the wrong school. It's only a part of the Junior College Teachers' Guild discussing their program plans. The teachers' curriculum includes, in addition to the college graduation requirements, Art, Child Literature, and Psychology, both General and Educational.

The first club to be organized the second semester in the new Junior College building was the Stagecraft Club. Formerly there was no need for a club of this type for Junior College used the Central High School auditorium, and the stage crew was composed of high school boys, but with our own stage and equipment it was necessary that a group of this type be organized to do the staging work. Six of Junior College young men saw this need, and because they were mutually interested in stage work they united their interests and efforts and formed the Stagecraft Club.

The first members of the club were Leon Fox, Jack Morton, William Zurovsky, Frank Agranoff, Bob Coy, and John Ward. They had charge of all staging effects of the college productions the second semester.

The Mixed Chorus of Junior College is one of the largest, most active organizations of the school. The chorus was organized the first semester of 1931 by Raymond Elliott, the instructor of the music department. Although other attempts had been made previously to introduce such an organization in the college, the school-wide interest in activities of this nature had been somewhat diminutive, and the attempts had met with little success.

During the first year of its existence, the chorus boasted about thirty members—students who enrolled because of their musical interests—for there was no credit offered. Last year, the number increased so greatly that one hour's credit was offered for the course.

This year, the membership was even greater and there were more than sixty students meeting for an hour each Monday and Wednesday for their chorus rehearsal, and many of these students, because of the number of hours in their curriculum, received no credit hours for their time.

It has been an annual custom of the chorus to bring Christmas cheer to the unfortunate of the city. This year carols were sung at the various hospitals and at several homes. The annual Christmas program was presented before the Junior College Assembly, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, and the High School Women's Association. The performance of the chorus at the State Teachers' Meeting in Kansas City was proved outstanding when several colleges over the state demanded explanations as to how such a chorus had been perfected. Another outstanding performance was "The Seven Last Words" which was presented at Easter before a capacity crowd in the college auditorium.

"Outward Bound"

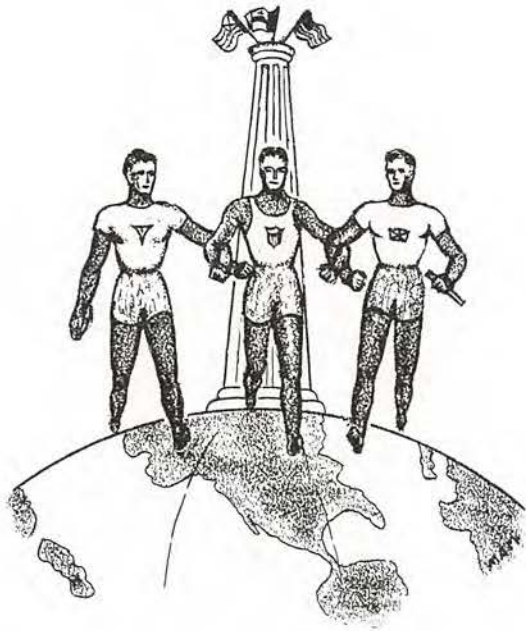

HURST BRIGGS COOPER MOORE COY FRENCH HELLER

"Outward Bound", that stirring Vane masterpiece, was the 1933 all-school production, presented March 24, in the school auditorium. Mr. Vane, in "Outward Bound" presents his views on death in a very unusual manner. His idea is that everyone is on a boat sailing to the great beyond. An examiner decides their fate. When asked where they are going, the steward replies, "Heaven, sir, and Hell, too, they are both the same, you see."

The cast consisted of six Freshmen and three Sophomores. The entire cast included: Ann, Mary Jane French; Henry, Cameron Hurst; Tom Prior, Bob Coy; Mrs. Cliveden-Banks, Mary Elizabeth Cooper; Lingley, Billy Hinds; Mrs. Midget, Lois Briggs; Rev. Duke, Henry Heller; Scrubby, Jack Nicholas; Rev. Thompson, Frank Moore.

Jack Rowden and Dale Brown were the business and advertising managers, respectively, for the production.

ATHLETICS

Athletics teach the lessons of sportsmanship and good play. We win and lose with our athletes. They uphold the athletic fame of our college, and we hope that they may always bring honor and glory to Junior College—as they have in 1932-1933.

The 1932-33 basket ball team completed the most successful schedule in the history of the school, by winning sixteen out of nineteen games. The first loss came in the second game of the season when Maryville eked out a 24-21 win. After this defeat the Junior College offense clicked and defeat was not tasted for fifteen straight games. For this excellent record, the Griffons were invited to compete in the N. A. A. U. Champion Basket Ball Tournament held in Kansas City. Here they lost to the Kauffman Meats after four overtime periods.

The season was inaugurated with a decisive victory over Cameron 46-19. Then Maryville won and Junior College started its court rampage by defeating Kidder 35-25. A journey to Chillicothe resulted in a 32-18 victory. Nebraska Wesleyan lost a hard-fought game to the Griffons on their home court 37-40. Cape Girardeau dropped a close game 16-17. Kansas City, Kansas Junior College was the next victim of Griffon sharpshooters by a 27-36 score.

The Griffons next met the Peabody Athletic Club and won a thrilling game 24-23. In the most interesting game of the season the highly trained Denver Pigs suffered a 24-21 defeat. Chillicothe lost their return game 26-21. Kemper fought hard but lost on their court 18-17. Cameron took a second defeat 38-10. The Griffons won 46-26 from St. Paul's College, but lost their return game 31-35 at Clarinda.

Ruley led the score-making most of the year, but was overtaken near the end of the season by Rousey. Smith was next in line followed closely by Moore, Einbinder, and Redmond.

Although Groh and Smith were the only returning lettermen this year, Coach Price Hopkins had nothing to be gloomy about. In fact, prospects were never brighter. The captain of the team, Groh, was a veteran dash and middle distance star; Smith was a winner of many dash and hurdle races.

In addition, the team had Fischer, star half-miler; Whitaker and Moore, two excellent weight men; R. Myers, high jump and dash star; Boyles, whose specialty was low hurdles; Mordaunt, a superior high hurdler; A. Myers, Ward, and Davis who knew their distance runs, and promising material in the form of Nelson, Marcham, Einbinder, Brown, Dahlenburg, Ruley, Vancil, and Roderick.

The schedule this season included Kemper Invitation Meet at Boonville; Indoor State Meet at Columbia; a triangular meet at Kansas City, Kansas, with Kemper, Kansas City, Kansas Junior College, and the Griffons competing; Baker Relays at Baldwin, Kansas; Kansas Relays at Lawrence; a triangular meet at Lamoni with Graceland College, Clarinda and the Griffons competing; a triangular meet at Cameron with Kidder Junior College, Cameron Junior College and the Griffons competing

This organization was for the purpose of forwarding sports among the girls of Junior College. For the first year tennis and swimming were major sports. These sports proved so successful that it is plain to see that this organization served the purpose to the best advantage. Gertrude Hoffman, manager of intra-murals, was very much responsible for the splendid work of this organization in forwarding sports among the Junior College girls.

Athletic awards are made to each girl who makes a total of 500 points in the various sports. This system awards 100 points for each of the following team sports: volley ball, base ball, basket ball, and swimming. In individual tournaments, such as horseshoe pitching and tennis, five points are given for each match played. Ten points are given for entrance and ten points extra for the champion.

In addition, one point is given for each mile in an organized hike, one for two hours of skating and two for each hour of horse back riding.

Tennis

The alive and blood-stirring sport for girls which heretofore has occupied a place in the background came forward this year, and tennis was introduced for the first time as a major sport. Much enthusiasm in the sport was shown, and many young women participated in the games.

Tennis activities were culminated in a tournament among the players of the school in which twenty-seven teams entered. The college was given the use of the St. Joseph Municipal Tennis Courts, and these courts were used for the girls' tournament. From the members of the two winning teams was selected a team to engage in inter-collegiate competition. The champion teams were those of La Verne Stafford and Gertrude Hoffman.

For the second consecutive year this sport was managed by Nella-Rose Hoffman.

The teams were: 1, Rabin, Spangberg, Hutchinson, Thomas, Murchie; 2, Fuller, Hoffman, Letts, Krumme, Jutten.

There were four events for the teams' participation in the meet. Following are the points made by each team: I, Form 19, Dashes 13, Relay 5, Plunge 3; II, Form 17, Dashes 11, Relay 3, Plunge 5. Team I totaled 40 points and team II totaled 36 points. In the individual events Rabin scored 123, Jutten 119, Fuller 118. The girls' athletic activities in the autumn are started by the games of volley ball played by the young women of athletic interests. These exciting games of volley ball brought about great enthusiasm among the girls. There were just enough girls who came out to make two teams of which Jean Fuller and Jessie Jutten were captains. The members of Jean's team were: Frances Richardson, Mary Leighty, Esther Krumme, Jeanette Eaton, and Elizabeth Jones. The members of the other team were: Jane Sandy, Helen Horan, Nella-Rose Hoffman, Marie Rabin, Gale Sandusky, and Guerry Fort.

Each team had to win three games out of five, and the season ended with the victorious team being Jessie Jutten's.

This sport was ably managed by Esther Krumme.

Basket ball has been the leading girls' sport for several years, and occupies an important place in the college woman's athletic life during the winter. As in other sports, the basket ball season closed with a tournament. Three games were played and the team winning two games out of the three was declared champion. Winning three games straight, Jean Fuller's basket ball team won the intramurals basket ball tournament. The games were played in the Old Central gymnasium with Miss Madeline McDonald, physical education instructor the first semester, as referee. The members of the winning team were: Fuller (Captain), Horan, Eaton, Krumme, Sandusky, Rabin, Jones, Beals. The members of the losing team were: Jutten (Captain), Sandy, Hoffman, Stafford, Richardson, Grimm, McElwain, Fort.

This major sport was successfully managed by Jeanette Eaton.

The Tale of the Cleo-Patricians

Many, many, many years ago during the year of 1932-33, King Alla Alla III reigned in the country of the Cleo-Patricians. King Alla Alla Alla III was beloved by all his subjects and was served by them very faithfully. His general flunkies were his court jester, Bo-Bo, and his fanning slave, Perpetual Motion. His graceful dancer, Minnie, performed dances which kept her audience spellbound. She was aided by the beautiful girls and chorus men of the Cleo-Patrician Follies.

One day King Alla Alla Alla III became hot and bothered. Thereupon, he called all of his flunkies to his court and bade them "go into their act."

They did.
