THE GRIFFON'S LAIR

FOREWORD

We, the staff, present this, the fifteenth annual publication of the Griffon. Contained herein are the personalities and events of the school year 1934-35. It is only fitting that the Griffon itself should serve as our theme, symbolizing, as it does, invincibility. We sincerely hope that this book will serve to perpetuate those ambitions, achievements, and joys in college life for which our school stands.

Editor, Ródney McAuliffe - -

Business Manager, Arthur Goldberg

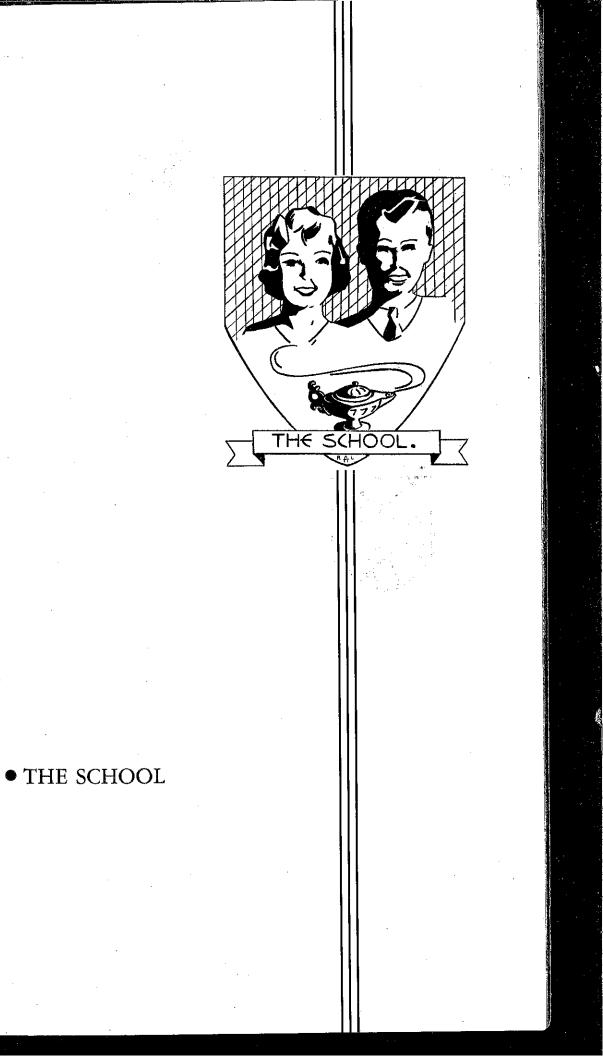

DEDICATION

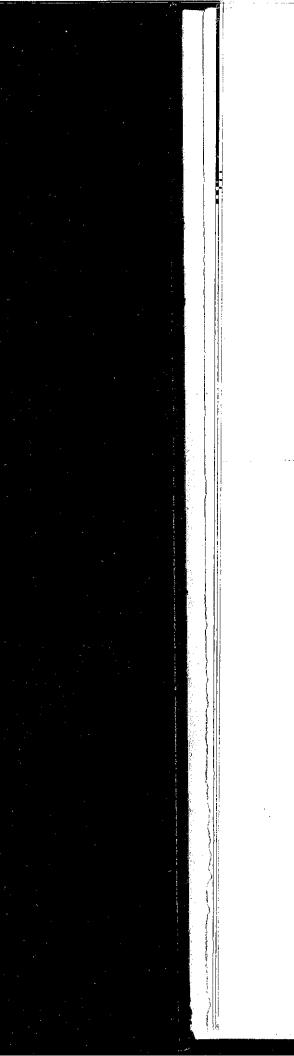

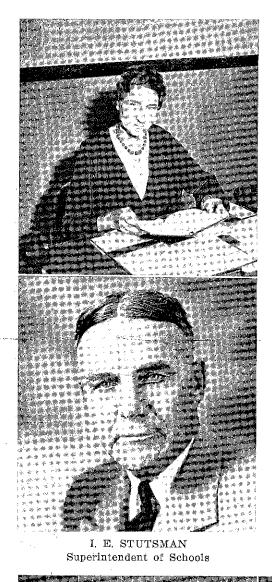

To our sage counsellor, and sympathetic advisor, who has in a large part made possible this publication, whose fineness of character has inspired us to keep our eyes forever fixed on the goals of World Fellowship and intelligent Christian Living---

To Miss Nelle Blum, Dean of St. Joseph Junior College, we affectionately dedicate this, the Griffon for 1935.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

THE SENATE

The members of the Student Senate are selected from both the Freshman and Sophomore classes. They must rank high in both scholarship and personal conduct. It is the duty of this body to provide a link in the long chain of relations between the administration and student body. It is through this group that the students are given self-government and selfdiscipline that a college group warrants.

All transactions concerning the student body must be approved by the Senate. It is their duty to appoint committees to serve on extra-curricular activities such as "Prowl Day," and the school dances. In addition, the Sen-ate helps select the staff for the various school publications, as well as makes laws pertaining to the student body, and upholds the ideals and traditions of the school.

The Griffon News is published by the student body ten times during the year. Primarily it is the chief organ of student opinion and the medium by which all news of importance is presented to the student body. In addition to providing an accurate account of events at Junior College, this monthly publication presents, through its editorials and various columns, comments on school affairs, thus providing an outlet for student thought.

The publishing of the paper is under the direction of a staff chosen for their ability and interest in journalism. One member of the faculty serves as advisor to the staff and at the close of each school year joins with them in picking a staff for the coming year.

The Griffon News holds a membership in the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association and competes in the National Press Association contest, last year, winning a first class honor rating. It was given first place in the annual state contest sponsored by the University of Missouri last year.

Sponsored by Cheshire Cheese, Penny Whistles in 1934 and '35 scored first honors among the literary magazines of Missouri Junior Colleges. The material found in Penny Whistles is the work of the students themselves. Many types of writing are included in the magazine; short stories, poetry, drama, sketches, description, and expository articles. It is the hope of the editor, Ruth Ann Eliscu, and her associate, Julia Greenfield, that the 1935 Penny Whistles will be of the same high caliber as that of last year. Penny Whistles is published in May and is obtained by the school activity ticket.

The Griffon News also copped honors in the annual press meet of 1934. It was judged the best all-around Junior College newspaper. The editor of the 1935 Griffon News is Leora Lawlor, assisted by James Murray, Margaret Adams, and a host of reporters. Despite the fact that Junior College does not have a journalism department, the Griffon News is unfailingly published once a month. It is the Griffon News that welds the students in a closer bond of fellowship.

The Griffon year-book is a compilation of all the events of the year in Junior College. It is the medium through which the achievements and personalities of each class are preserved. The loss of this publication was not fully appreciated until it failed to appear last year. Its "come back" was assured by the untiring efforts of the Editor, Rodney McAuliffe and his enthusiastic assistants, Arthur Goldberg, Business Manager, Dorothy Welsh, Associate Editor, Julia Greenfield, Feature Editor, and Retta Lu Alexander, Art Editor.

Membership in the club is limited to fifteen. To be eligible a student must be making an average of M in all subjects excepting English courses, in which he must average S or above. The purpose of the club is to further the interest in literature in Junior College, both in writing and reading. The bi-monthly meetings of the organization are given each time to one member who assumes charge of the program and presents some form of literature, usually contemporary, to the club members.

It is this club which sponsors the publication of the literary magazine, Penny Whistles, whose staff is chosen from its members. This year the staff expects to publish a larger magazine than any that have appeared.

In addition to these activities the members of Cheshire Cheese also play an important part in the growth of the Anne Lowe Wells Scholarship Fund, by holding regular food sales at school. All of the funds derived from these sales go into this scholarship fund.

The Press Club is an organization composed of only those students who take an active part in the publishing of The Griffon News. The membership is limited to sixteen. The purpose of the club is to further the interest in journalism in Junior College, and to improve upon the various school publications.

Meetings are held twice a month. One is a business meeting held in the News Room, and the other is a social meeting held in the various homes of the members. The members of the staff are brought closer together through these meetings and are thus more able to work as an organized group toward the betterment of their mutual "pet," The Griffon News. Miss Mary Robinson, faculty advisor for the paper, is also the sponsor of the club.

Phi Theta Kappa is the national honorary scholastic fraternity for Junior Colleges. The chapter here at Junior College is the Kappa chapter, to which students having an average of S are eligible for membership.

With its members having such high scholastic standings, it is only natural that the primary purpose of the group is to uphold and further these same standards of scholarship. The members of the club furnish the monthly programs which are of many types, including literature, music, and original papers written on various subjects.

This year the club sent four of its members to the national convention held at Jacksonville, Texas. The information gathered at this convention was given to the student body at a special convocation and proved most entertaining.

"MARY, MARY, QUITE CONTRARY"

The highly temperamental actress, Mary Westlake, because of her penchant for getting engaged almost played havoc with the hearts of Geoffrey Consodine and his uncle, and incidentally disrupted the whole Consodine household during her two days' stay there. She kept the unsophisticated Shiela—who thought she knew all there was to know about love torn with jealousy for fear she would lose Geoffrey to the actress who had supposedly come for the purpose of hearing Geoffrey's play, "Joan of Arc," a poetic drama in five acts. But she went off in a boat for a moonlight ride with Geoffrey's Uncle Henry, lost the oars, and let Uncle Henry develop an attack of rheumatism from the exposure. He proposed to her next day, nevertheless, and she promptly accepted him, as well as Geoffrey. But everything came out all right when she returned to town, leaving Geoffrey safe and sound for Shiela.

Dorothy Brown, in her best professional manner, captured the audience by her representation of Mary Westlake, while Keith Compton, as Geoffrey, realistically fell in love with her. Mary Catherine Badger made an adorable Shiela, while Bill McCallum, as the self-centered Uncle Henry, gave the audience many laughs. Rodney Erickson, as Hobbs the cockney business manager, contributed his share of humor. Julia Greenfield, Miss Mimms, if you please, made everyone uncomfortable every time she came into the room, while Bob Bigham gave character to an otherwise spineless preacher. Beebe, played by John Minor, and the preacher's wife, Virginia Schwartz, held up their end of the performance.

The Mace is composed of students who are outstanding in school activities. Its membership is limited to six students, three chosen the Freshman year and three the Sophomore year. Last year Dorothy Brown, Elizabeth Townsend, and Elizabeth Dahlenburg were chosen from the Freshman class. The new members from this year's Sophomore class are Mary Catherine Badger, Charles Fore, and Lloyd Thomann.

Dorothy Brown was a member of the Dramatic Club and Cheshire Cheese Club. She also was one of the chief contributors to Penny Whistles, besides being very prominent in dramatic activities here at school. Elizabeth Townsend was secretary of the Sophomore class, a member of the Press Club, Senate, Dramatic Club, art editor of Penny Whistles, and advertising manager of The Griffon. Elizabeth Dahlenburg was secretarytreasurer of the student body, member of the Senate, German Club, and Natural Science Club. Mary Catherine Badger was a member of the Dramatic Club, Senate, "J" Club Queen, German Club, and student director of "Michael and Mary." Charles Fore was president of the student body, cheerleader, member of the track team, swimming team, International Relations club, and the president of the Senate. Lloyd Thomann was captain of the basketball team, member of the "J" club, Natural Science club, and prominent in intramural sports.

The Natural Science club is one of the most active clubs in Junior College. Membership is limited to thirty students. In order to be eligible for membership a student must average M in all subjects with the exception of his biological courses, in which he must average S or above.

The purpose of the club is two-fold. It strives to further interest in all phases of natural science and to build up and support the Childrens' Museum. It is this organization which founded the Childrens' Museum in 1927.

Each year the club sponsors a lecture given by some widely known speaker. This year they brough the well known lecturer, Dr Burris Jenkins, who spoke on the European situation. A feature of the club meetings is the waffle suppers which Miss Andrews, the club sponsor, gives for the members.

This club is the medium through which the students of Spanish may become better acquainted with the language which they are studying. All conversation at the meetings must be carried on in Spanish, as well as the games played and songs sung. For it is the purpose of the club to better acquaint its members with the language, and this can be no better accomplished than through actual conversation.

Membership is limited to second year students and second semester students having an average of S. The warmth and courtesy found in Spain are to be found in equal amounts in this club.

For the past four years La Lucecita has supplied a family from Old Mexico with provisions, food, clothing, Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, and seeds for the spring garden. Each year the club holds its annual picnic, in honor of its sponsor, Miss Brown.

This club is composed of men who have won a school letter in some intercollegiate sport. The members of the organization are constantly striving to cultivate loyalty to the college among its students, to preserve the ideals and traditions of Junior College, to promote and regulate athletics and to encourage the exhibitions of good sportsmanship in all athletic games.

They have been unusually active this year. Their chief contribution toward swelling the traditions of the college was the dance which they sponsored, and during which they crowned Miss Mary Catherine Badger as "J" Club Queen. Each member of the club wore a small black and gold "J" to distinguish him from the dancers. Later, at the annual convocation devoted to the awarding of athletic awards, they presented their Queen with a pin bearing a small black and gold "J."

International good will and a broader knowledge of world affairs are the two chief aims of this organization. To secure these ends the club often sponsors local and national speakers of note.

Membership in this club is open to students of Social Sciences and to those who have an average of M in all subjects excepting whatever course in Social Science they are taking, in which they must have at least an S.

The club meetings are bi-monthly and include discussions on all topics of contemparary international importance. This year the club was represented on one of the Public Forums by the club president, Arthur Goldberg. He was asked to serve on the invited panel, whose duty it was to question the speaker and to stimulate the discussion.

MIXED CHORUS

"Music," someone has said, "is the fourth need of man: food, clothing, shelter—then music." The Mixed Chorus is endeavoring to supply that need for Junior College. Meeting every Monday and Wednesday afternoon, the sixty-some members of the chorus whole-heartedly sing for their own enjoyment. Then they share this enjoyment with the rest of the school in two convocation programs, a Christmas program, and their most outstanding achievement—"The Seven Last Words," by Dubois. Not only do they share it with the school, but they bring the community in to enjoy with them this annual presentation which always attracts capacity crowds. The Chorus invites the singers of the community to take a part in the actual production as well as inviting the public to hear it. They are cherishing dreams of the time when the chorus and audience shall be so large as to necessitate the use of the Krug Park Bowl or the steps and park in front of the City Hall.

Just to pause on Tenth Street on a day when the windows are open provides a ready concert for any passer-by; and if his imagination be active, he will find himself whirled into the midst of a "Czecho-Slovakian Dance," off on a "Gypsy Trail," or fairly dizzy from the spinning of the "Russian Top."

> "The man that hath no music in himself, Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds. Is fit for treason, stratagems, and spoils."

Singing its way straight into the hearts of the people of St. Joseph, the A Cappella Chorus is one group in the college which carries its activities outside the school. As far as the A Cappella is concerned, it has put Junior College on the map, not only in St. Joseph, but in many towns in northwest Missouri and has pushed its frontiers on into Kansas. During this school year the A Cappella appeared more than thirty-five times to sing before convention groups, civic clubs, teachers' meetings, and churches, being heard by several thousand people during the season.

The twenty-five members of the A Cappella Chorus are chosen on the basis of voice quality and dependability. They meet with the Mixed Chorus on Mondays and Wednesdays, and as a separate group on Fridays, and frequently hold practices during the week at the homes of the members. Although the director and members of this group receive no remuneration or extra academic credit, they must be present at all rehearsals or be dropped from the chorus. They sing because they love to sing, giving their time and talent for that reason alone. The idea is not merely to sing a few songs, but to make good music for themselves, for others, and with others-music "of the people, for the people, and by the people."

This organization has as its primary purpose the furtherance of athletic interests among the women of Junior College. The members take active part in their own intramural games which include swimming, baseball, basketball, ping pong, and volleyball.

Athletic awards are made to each girl making a total of 500 points in the various sports. An award of 100 points is made in each of the team sports. Points are also awarded for individual matches and for championships won.

It was the custom to reach a long hook out of the wings and jerk the offending actor unceremoniously off the stage. The members of the Junior College Dramatic Club, although not exactly Walter Hampdens or Katherine Cornells, have at least, in their several public performances, not been "given the hook." In convocations they presented two plays, a satirical comedy and a serious play. In the all-school play, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," the club was well represented.

Dramatic Club members rarely miss the meetings. That would be missing a cue! It isn't often that one may see scenes from "Ah, Wilderness," "Beyond the Horizon," and "Ile," as was possible at the Eugene O'Neill meeting.

The most dramatic Dramatic Club activities, not to mention the perhaps melo-dramatic steak-fry, were the Movie-Night party and the trip which several of the members made to Kansas City to see George M. Cohan in "Ah! Wilderness."

At the Movie-Night party the members came dressed like their favorite movie-picture actor and did scenes from that actor's current picture. It was a very well-attended party, drawing such favorites as Ginger Rogers, George Raft, Edna May Oliver, The Marx Brothers, Frederick March, Constance Bennett, Kay Francis, Katherine Hepburn, and Leslie Howard. Greta Garbo, however, had said, "Ay thank ay stay home!"

A personality pleasing to the group and a deep interest in riding are the only qualifications for admittance to the club.

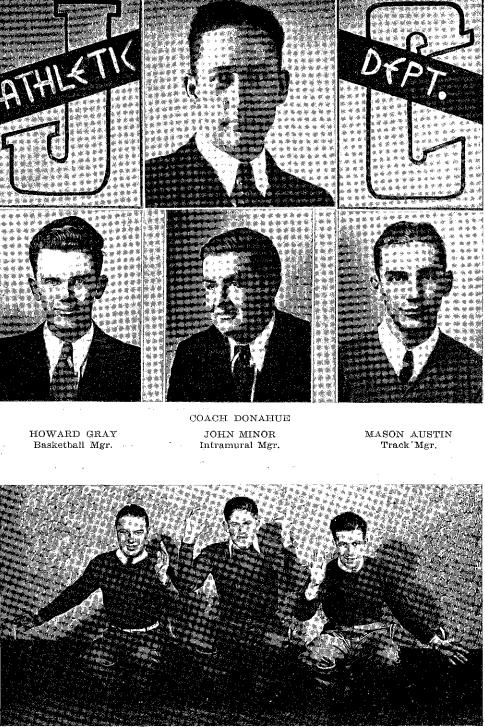

When the club was first organized only women were eligible for membership. Since then, however, several males have been admitted to this equestrian group. This year the club enjoyed several picnics and moonlight rides. The feature of one was the abrupt unseating of Miss Julia Greenfield.

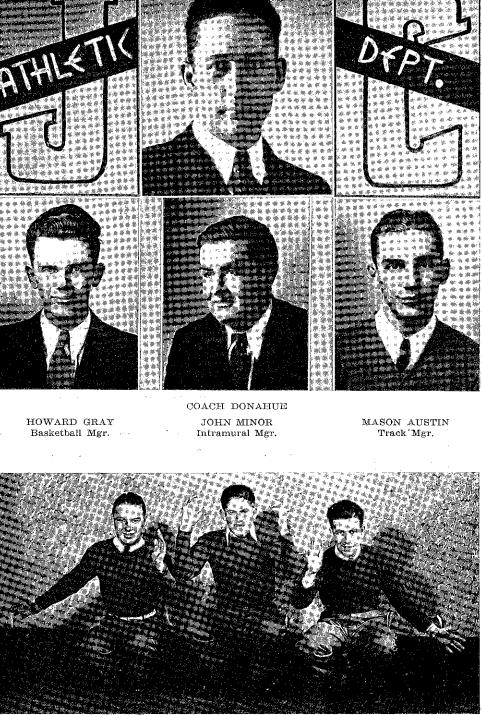

The members rode Sanders' horses from the Parkway Stables.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Farnol Adler (Forward): Possessed of a head as cool as it is dark, he plays consistent good ball. His spirit and sportsmanship have been an inspiration to the squad.

Mason Austin (Center): Despite a bad knee injury, he has played bang up ball all season. A smooth, accurate passer, as well as a cool headed floor man, he fits well in any combination.

Captain Loyd Thomann (Forward): A two-year veteran and the outstanding star in the Griffon athletic constellation. Probably the best man of his size the city has ever turned out. He topped the city scoring column this year, as well as that of the team.

Milton Cowgill (Center): Playing the hardest position on the team because of his height, "Cowg" turned in one one brilliant floor game after another and finished the season second in the team's scoring column.

Hal Halsted (Guard): Offensively Hal's brand of ball cannot be topped. One of the few good spot passers in the city and very adept at retrieving the ball from the backboard, his aggressiveness has initiated many Griffon scoring sprees.

COACH DONAHUE

Robert Kiley (Guard): The personification of the ideal guard. He plays a defensive game to perfection. His feeding the ball to his teammates was a strong factor in the team's success. A court man par excellence.

Wilburt Klamn (Guard): The hardest driving man on the squad. Fast breaking, aggressive, and a bulwark on defense as well as offense. His all around floor game and team work did much toward piling up the long string of Griffon victories.

Don Marshall (Forward): Small, fast, and deceptive, Don's cool headed playing and steadying influence ironed out many ragged attacks into smooth running plays.

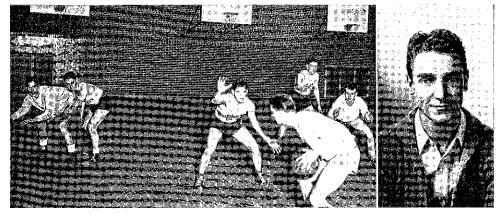

Leonard Rothstein (Forward): A typical hot shot. When he begins to barrage the bucket the scorer reaches for his chalk. His side court thrusts pulled many games out of the fire. Concentrating on offense, he proved a nightmare to opposing guards.

BASKETBALL SEASON

HAROLD DUTTON

With four lettermen and a number of former high school stars from the Freshman class, Coach Mike Donahue, with the help of Captain Lloyd Thomann, built up an excellent team, handicapped in size, but veritable giants in "fight."

Playing their first game against the college team from Conception, the Griffons scored a 27-22 victory. The following week the team from Clarinda Junior College went home with the short end of a 35-16 score. Nebraska Wesleyan, a four-year school, was the third victim for the fast stepping Griffons, losing 31-24.

In the fourth game of the season, played at Conception, the Griffons lost a close fight 21-18. The next night the weary Griffons dropped a hard fought battle to Tarkio College, 16-30. Graceland College of Lamoni, Iowa, suffered a 17-28 setback at the hands of the Griffons.

The Blue Eagles of Kansas City, Kansas, went down under a 34-43 defeat.

Trenton Junior College was unable to hold down Thomann and Rothstein and lost 32-48. Then the Griffons suffered their third loss of the season at the hands of St. Paul's College, 47-34. Four days later the team journeyed to Trenton and again won, in a low-scoring melee, 16-11.

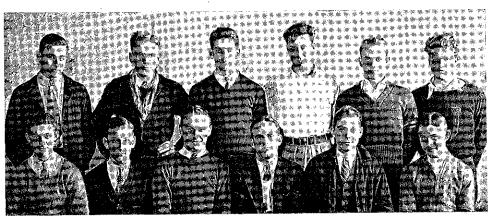

Junior College, Red Oak, Iowa, was defeated 33-28. The Kansas City, Kansas, Junior College easily defeated the Griffons, scoring 37 points to 14. Cameron Junior College stepped up to eke out a 19-17 decision.

In the next game Chillicothe Business College offered little opposition. Graceland College was handed another setback, losing 30-42. In the next game, against Clarinda, the Griffs, led by Thomann, chalked up 50 points to 17. Chillicothe Business College took a one point decision over the Griffons, winning 22-21. St. Paul's College gained a 33-18 decision from J. C. In the final scheduled game of the season J. C. defeated Cameron J. C. 22-19.

Playing in the State Junior College tournament, the Griffons won their first round game but lost out in the second round to Hannibal-La Grange. [Page Sixty-four]

Both the past records of the members of our '35 squad and our heavy '35 schedule promise a good year on the cinder track.

Although building his team around only two lettermen from last year, the co-captains, Russell McCamy and Frank Kiefer, Coach Donahue has promising material in the incoming freshmen.

The schedule opens with a dual meet with Fort Scott, Kansas, Junior College. March 29th. The next event is the state Junior College indoor meet which is to be held at Columbia, Missouri, April 5th. The next meet will be with Chillicothe Business College, April 12th.

The team will compete next in the state Junior College outdoor meet, which will be held at Columbia, either May 10th or 11th. Those men who place in the state outdoor meet will compete with those who place in the Kansas state meet at Kansas City, Kansas, some time the latter part of May.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

At the opening of the 1934-35 intramural season, Walter Wagner was selected intramural manager, but upon his withdrawl from school John Minor assumed his duties and proved to be an excellent manager.

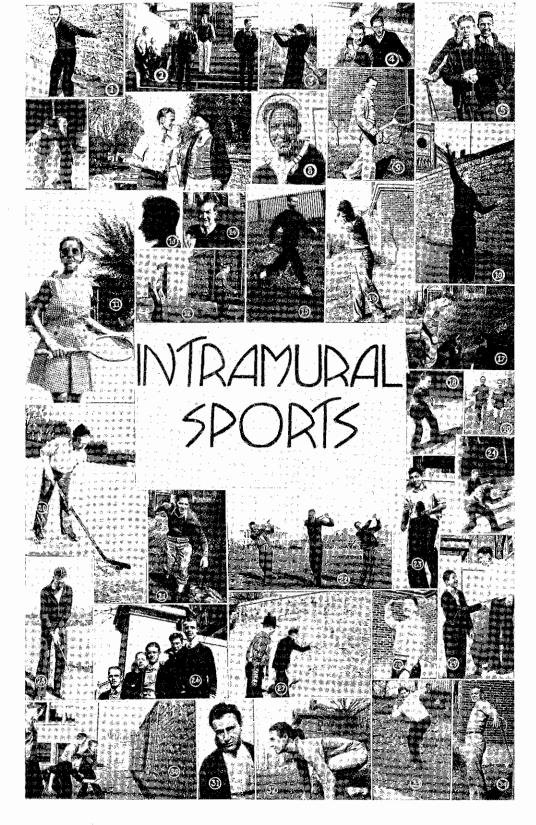

The intramural year began with a basketball tourney in which the team piloted by Don Marshall won the title. Closely following this event on the sport calendar were the bi-weekly swimming meets held in the Y. M. C. A. pool. The fall season was climaxed by tourneys in golf and horseshoes. Jack Wilson emerged the winner among the club wielders. J. R. Stafford proved the best of the tossers of the "lucky iron" and was crowned champion along with Jack Wilson.

Ping Pong proved to be the most popular winter sport. In the first tournament Farnol Adler captured the singles title and the team of Morton Leibowitz and Bob Kiley took the doubles crown. In the second tourney, in which the better players were placed in an upper bracket, Morton Leibowitz took the title in the championship flight. Burton Larson was the winner of the lower bracket. The final ping pong event of the year was the mixed doubles tournament in which the team of Velma Stetter and Farnol Adler were "smitten" queen and king, respectively.
